Some Men Are Always Borrowing

although they sometimes have larger incomes than the men from whom they borrow.

The confirmed borrower is a self-convicted failure, a grumbling and unreliable person who usually reaches old age dependent on others or still working, struggling and borrowing for a living—and finally dies under a load of debt.

On the other hand, the lender is the man who spends his money freely, but with care, who saves something each pay day and goes through life happy and contented, with money always at his disposal to grasp each opportunity. He saves before he spends and thus embraces prosperity for himself and his family.

DR. LEACOCK ADVOCATES U.S. RUGBY

Thinks Forward Pass Admirable Play

PUBLIC SPIRIT

Gigantic Ohio State University Stadium Erected

"It seems to me perfectly marvelous the way public support is elicited at the State University of Ohio, situated in the City of Columbus, where an immense stadium, the gift of graduates and citizens of Columbus towers to the sky with a seating capacity of 65,000 and room for an additional 10,000," said Dr. Stephen Leacock, who has just returned from Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio. In the former city, he was the special speaker at the annual teachers' convention.

He was deeply impressed by the progressive spirit shown at the Ohio State University, of which institution he was certain many McGill students had never even heard. "Everybody in Columbus," he stated, "looks upon himself as a university man, no matter if he has never attended the college in question. These public-spirited people fully realize that their continued co-operation, and support, go a long way to increase the worth and prestige of the University. Commenting on its registration, Dr. Leacock declared that it was about three times that of McGill, the Faculty of Arts alone totalling 2,500.

While in Columbus, the Head of the Department of Political Economy witnessed a game of rugby played under American rules. "I was brought up on the old form of rugby, and had never before seen the game played by our friends across the border. The forward pass, which some years ago was scoffed at, and compared to young ladies' basketball, is an admirable play, and I think it would be well for us to seriously consider adopting it. The forward pass cuts out much bucking of the line, and the incessant punting back and forward. Most significant of all, the adoption of American rules would make possible more international football fixtures which would have a profound, and lasting influence on the relations between American and Canadian universities." Dr. Leacock said that the Ohio State University professors and students with whom he spoke, were very much interested in hearing about McGill, and hoped to become really acquainted with the university some day.

PROFESSOR WAUGH TO GIVE ADDRESS

Speaks at Historical Club Thursday

The opening meeting of the Historical Club of McGill University will commence in Strathcona Hall at 8.15 p.m. on Wednesday, November 1st. Professor W. T. Waugh, M.A. (Manchester) B.D., who recently joined the staff of the Department of History as Associate Professor will deliver an address. Professor Waugh came to McGill as an expert in mediaeval and constitutional history, and has already made a name for himself as a most interesting lecturer.

For many years, Arts students have gathered at the Historical Club where various topics have received broad consideration. It proves an admirable agent in bringing the students in closer touch with their professors and fellow students. The Honorary President, Dr. C. E. Fryer, Professor of History, has worked incessantly in the interests of the club, and rarely misses a meeting. G. L. Van Vliet, the President, and the other executive members are formulating the year's programme, which will take the form of fortnightly meetings in Strathcona Hall until the end of March.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS TO HOLD ELECTIONS

Voting for officers of the Newfoundland Club will take place at the meeting in Strathcona Hall at 7.30 to-morrow night. Nominations were made at the smoker held recently. Keen interest is being manifested in the elections and a large attendance is expected at the meeting.

BIG INITIAL MEETING OF MEDICAL MEN

Dr. A. T. Bazin Gives Practical Talk

USEFUL HINTS

Jerry Aylward Elected Chairman of Medical Dinner Committee

Dr. A. T. Bazin, Honorary President of the Medical Undergraduate Society, was the speaker at the first meeting of the Society last evening, when the assembly hall of the new Medical Building was well filled with over three hundred students.

Included in the general business which was brought up for discussion was the election of Jerry Aylward as chairman of the Medical Dinner Committee, and of Dinsmore as first year's representative on the Reading Room Committee. A letter was read from the Toronto Medical Society asking for contributions to the song book which they are getting out. The faculty's quota of $67.50 towards the football team was voted on and carried.

Dr. Bazin termed his practical talk rather in the way of "opening remarks" than an "address". He stressed the importance of mastering the fundamentals of medicine—atomy, physiology and chemistry, as a foundation upon which to build, alter, and repair.

Between eighty-five and ninety-five per cent. of medical graduates enter general practice. These men are looked up to in the community in which they live and it is necessary that they train them—(Continued on Page Three)

ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS THURSDAY

David Cowan Reads Paper On Near East

The Economics Club, one of the oldest and most popular societies at McGill, will hold its first meeting for this session on Thursday evening, November 2nd, in the Arts Smoking Room. In view of the late crisis in the Near East it is particularly fitting that a discussion on that pregnant question take place. David Cowan, a prominent Economics student, will read a paper on the Near Eastern Question which will be followed by a general discussion, after which the various phases of the subject should be better understood.

C. T. Ballantyne, President of the club will be in the chair, and following the discussion a short business meeting is scheduled to take place when the programme for the session will be completed. The club proposes to hold six meetings, which, if the past success of the Economics Club is any criterion, should be well attended, and thoroughly enjoyed. Much of the popularity of the Economics Club has been due to the untiring efforts of Dr. Stephen Leacock, and Dr. J. C. Hemmion, who will be present on Thursday evening. Refreshments will be served towards the close of the meeting. Students of Economics are cordially invited to attend.

SCIENCE IS EASY VICTOR IN HARRIERS

Four Out of First Six Are Engineers FAST TIME

Wiggins, Stephens, Egerton, Legg and Kerr Finish in Order Named

Although Wiggins, a Med., finished in front of the other competitors in the inter-faculty harrier run yesterday afternoon, Science and Arts were the only two full teams in the field and the former faculty won the meet with the large number of points. Four of the first six to finish were Science men.

Fourteen men started over the mountain at four o'clock. The weather conditions were perfect and the runners made good time. On the climb up the serpentine, Wiggins and Stephens secured the lead and held it for the entire race. At the half way mark these two led the field by a hundred yards with Egerton, Champion, Bishop Legg and Kerr all running together slightly in the rear. The runners spread out well during the long run on the level, and swinging around on to Park Avenue, Wiggins overtook Stephens and they came down by the side of the road at a fast pace. Egerton was running third, Kerr fourth, and Champion fifth at this stage in the game. At the track Wiggins opened up the pace and Stephens followed. Egerton hit the track next, running the last distance in fast time, but was well behind Stephens, who ran second. Legg, Champion and Kerr reached the track together. Legg, only too well known because of his ability as a sprinter in the last few yards of the mile opened up and came in fourth in the final honours. This runner has not been over the course before this year, having been on the football field for the past week, but in running the way he did yesterday there is little doubt that he will show up well in the intercollegiate event. Kerr, a newcomer to the track ran fifth. This tall runner is new at endurance running, and is the most promising man on the team. With a year's experience, he should develop into a brilliant runner. Champion ran sixth.

In the past it has been customary to select the team which will wear the McGill colours from the ranks of the first men in this race.

ORCHESTRA MEETS FOR FIRST TIME

Election of Officers Will Be Feature of Evening

To-night the Students' Orchestra meets in its first business meeting to elect officers and discuss its plans for the season.

The Students' Orchestra must not be confused with the Conservatorium Orchestra. The Students' Orchestra is manned and controlled entirely by undergraduates with a professional leader in charge, as conductor, and along with the Mandolin Club and Glee Club forms the Musical Association of McGill. In past years the orchestra has functioned in connection with the Players' Club, and has been largely responsible for the Sunday afternoon musicals in the Union.

Being supported by the student body the Orchestra demands the active co-operation of all who are able to play suitable instruments and makes a special appeal to the first year men to fill the gaps left by graduation of former players. All old members and others who are interested in their Students' Orchestra are asked to attend the meeting at five this afternoon in the Lounge Room of the Union.

Talk with the boys and girls, regularly By Long Distance

"Hello, Mother! How are you all? Your voice sounds just as natural as if you were sitting beside me!"

Long Distance is so satisfactory that in an increasing number of homes a regular weekly talk with the boys or girls at College or Schools at an appointed hour, (often at Station-to-Station rates) has become an established habit.

There is a feeling of contentment, of satisfaction, when you have actually talked with the absent ones that proves worth many times the small charge for a Long Distance message.

After 8 P.M. the evening rate on Station-to-Station calls is about one-half the day rate.

Try it.

"QUITTERS"

The last few days have furnished incidents of a sort to prompt the most optimistic worker, and the most pronounced enthusiast around college to consideration. Not in the defeats that may have been suffered by representative McGill teams, not in the apparent tendency to indifference on the part of some of the undergraduates, does he find the cause of his perturbation; he finds it, rather, in the evidence, ample and only too convincing, that McGill is not without its "quitters." The 'Varsity game of over a week ago, when the rooters commenced to leave the stands before the completion of the contest, established proof that though the team was fighting, its supporters were quitting. Poor attendances at the rugby practices have caused the Coach to wonder just where that much talked-of "McGill Spirit" was to be discovered. The season is not yet over; it is not too late to boost, certainly not too late to get busy and "lend a hand."

If the activity to which you have promised your assistance, seems to be falling behind, look to yourself, not to the executive or another, for the fault. If someone else is neglecting to give their support, yours is needed even more so on that account. McGill men have yet to be reputed as quitters. There is always room for a booster—at no time for a shirker. On occasions, McGill has been a loser, but a quitter never. This is a period of the session in which true worth is shown. Any one delinquent?

"FOOLS TALK . . ."

"Fools talk, but wise men speak," so wrote an author whose record proves that he knew whereof he spoke. One addicted to wanderings about the various university buildings is apt to question the truth of this statement if he be convinced that all undergraduates are men of wisdom; if, on the other hand, he be open to conviction, and an undergraduate himself, he would be anxious to forget that such a quotation ever received circulation. It is, indeed, trifling the amount of "talk" carried on, in comparison to discussion of a more or less serious nature, in the different faculty common rooms and in other places where students meet. Whether this be due to unwillingness, inability or unconcern with regard to entering into more sober arguments, is debatable ground. Certainly there exists an apathy in this connection.

During the next few weeks the Literary and Debating Society will provide every man in the university with an opportunity to speak, either in an inter-class debate, or on the floor of the Mock Parliament to be held on the ninth of November. More than this, the Lit. cannot do; every undergraduate in the college is a member; it cannot coerce its members into joining in the debates, it can only afford them the privilege of so doing by efficient management. This is the aim of the Lit. executive. For the success of the scheme of inter-class debates, to be followed by inter-faculty debates, the co-operation of class and undergraduate heads is essential.

Every college graduate should be able to express himself in a coherent manner when called upon to do so; he can best do this when he has acquired practice and confidence through his efforts as an undergraduate along the lines of public speaking. To every man will come the time when he will be asked to "say a few words." If that man be a product of university training his "few words" will be anticipated with pleasure, and will be remembered with regret if he fails to measure up to the standard set for him. The obligation will be the same whether the speaker be a lawyer, doctor or scientist—he will be expected to be capable of a forceful expression of his sentiments. Accordingly, every student, who can possibly do so, should associate himself with the Lit. There will be a mutual benefit: to the university from the greater field opened for the selection of men to represent McGill on the Inter-collegiate Debating Team; to the participant, from the advantage he will gain in having spoken before an audience—be it his first or hundredth appearance as a speaker, he will benefit.

JUNIORS' DANCE

At a meeting of the Junior Dance Committee last night, it was decided that all those who wish to attend the dance must hand their names into their class representative by Thursday night. Owing to the limited capacity of the Union, only 140 Juniors will have the opportunity of attending, and so many tickets are allotted to each Junior year in proportion to the registration of the year. In the case where more wish to attend than there are tickets, the tickets will be drawn for.

MEETINGS IN UNION

Much trouble has been occasioned by the fact that various organizations have advertised meetings in the Union without making certain of their accommodation. The result has been that two meetings may have been scheduled for the same room at the same time. In future it will be necessary for presidents or secretaries of clubs to make certain of accommodation either by seeing that the application is entered in the book for that purpose at the Hall Porter's desk or by notifying one of the members of the executive of the Union.

UNION HOUSE COMMITTEE.

LOST.

A seven ring leather note book, containing valuable notes, was left in the Union Cafeteria last Thursday noon. The owner's name is written plainly on the first page. Finder please leave with Janitor of Chemistry building.

BASEBALL REPRESENTATIVES

Baseball representatives of the Freshman and Sophomore Years who have not kept their attendance lists up-to-date for the practices are asked to attend to this immediately following each practice. It will not be possible to grant these attendances unless they are promptly turned in to the Department of Physical Education.

NOTICE.

Students in Medicine thinking of practising in Mexico should note that the examinations for license in that country are required to be written in Spanish.

R.V.C. '23.

All the girls will be glad to hear that the four MacDonald girls, belonging to R.V.C. '23, have accepted an invitation to tea on Tuesday afternoon, October 31. Tea will be served in the Drawing Room of the R.V.C., and it is hoped that every girl will be present. In addition to being an opportunity to meet the B.H.S. Seniors, this tea offers all the girls the chance to see their R.V.C. classmates, out of lectures.

NOTICE.

Students of the First and Second Years who have not been physically examined this season, and students of higher years who desire to take part in competitive athletics may be examined at Molson Hall at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31. New students who have not attended to this matter please note that this will be their last opportunity to comply with the regulation, which states that those who have not been physically examined before November 1st, will not be allowed to attend the University.

J. A. NICHOLSON,
Registrar.

SECOND YEAR SCIENCE.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore banquet is to be held on Wednesday, November 1st. R. E. Dingman, Second Year President has tickets for Sophomores who are entitled to receive them.

STUDENTS' ORCHESTRA

The Musical Association of McGill is calling a business meeting for Tuesday, October 31, at 5 o'clock in the lounge room of the Union to proceed with plans for the carrying on of the work of the Students' Orchestra during the coming season. The support given by the student body will in a large way determine the course of the meeting. All who are interested in this organization are requested to attend this meeting.

MICROSCOPES.

The University has decided on an agreement whereby they can sell microscopes to students on the deferred payment plan. An article explaining this will be seen elsewhere.

NOTICE.

The draws for the Union Billiard and Pool Tournaments have been completed and the handicaps posted. The draw for the first round is as follows:

Billiards—M. Fineberg vs. E. W. R. Steacie; A. D. McColl vs. J. R. Robertson; A. Levy vs. J. C. Harbottle; E. H. Elliott vs. W. S. Bouillon; W. H. Wilson vs. C. W. Webster

Pool—N. Miller vs. H. A. Cohen; W. Stein vs. A. Levy; G. H. Stock vs. G. H. Rumpel.

The handicaps have been figured out and they are now posted in the billiard room at the Union. Competitors are requested to play their matches at the earliest opportunity.

It is the intention of the House Committee to have these tournaments more often in the future and while the entry list for this tournament is very good, it is hoped that more interest will be aroused in future. Suitable prizes will be awarded the winners and as this is a handicap affair each man has an equal opportunity of winning the prize.

HISTORICAL CLUB

Professor W. T. Waugh, Associate Professor of History will address the session's first meeting of the Historical Club at 8.15 p.m., Wednesday, November 1st in the Strathcona Hall lounge. All present members, and men students interested in History are invited to attend.

WHICH ARE YOU?

There are two kinds of people on earth to-day,
Just two kinds of people, no more, I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for it's well understood
The good are half-bad, and the bad are half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to rate a man's wealth
You must first know the state of his conscience and health.
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span,
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.
Not the happy and sad, for the swift flying years,
Bring each man his laughter, and each man his tears.

No; the two kinds of people on earth I mean
Are the people who lift, and the people who lean.
Wherever you go, you will find the earth's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.
And oddly enough, you will find too, I ween,
There's only one lifter to twenty who lean.
In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters, who toil down the road?
Or are you a leaner, who lets others share
Your portion of labour and worry and care?

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

THE ORIGIN OF WOMAN.

According to Hindoo legend, this is the proper origin of woman: Thastri, the God Vulcan of Hindoo mythology, created the world, but on his commencement to create woman he discovered that for man he had exhausted all his creative materials, and not one solid element had been left. This, of course, greatly perplexed Thastri, and caused him to fall into a profound meditation. When he arose from it he proceeded as follows:

He took—
The roundness of the moon,
The undulating curves of the serpent,
The graceful twist of the creeping plant,
The light shivering of the grass blade,
The slenderness of the willow,
The velvety softness of the flowers,
The lightness of the feather,
The gentle gaze of the doe,
The frolicsome of the dancing sunbeam,
The tears of the clouds,
The inconsistency of the wind,
The timidity of the hare,
The vanity of the peacock,
The hardness of the diamond,
The cruelty of a tiger,
The heat of the fire,
The chill of the snow,
The cackling of the parrot,
All the cooing of the turtle dove,
All these he mixed together and formed woman.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE PLUMBERS TO MEET

The plans for the Science-Freshman-Sophomore banquet on Wednesday night are complete and from all present indications the affair will be one of the most successful that has ever been staged. Not only has the entertaining class secured the Venetian Gardens for the evening, but they have gathered a most scintillating group of speakers to address them. In spite of the fact that this diner is "dry" every year, it is always popular. The speakers on the programme up to date include the Dean of the Faculty D. F. D. Adams, Dr. Sullivan, and Mr. Dodd. All of these men are well known not only in the faculty but also in the University as most interesting speakers. It is rumoured that the Sophomore President R. E. Dingman will also have a few words to say. As is customary the Freshman President will be toastmaster.

Recently the Sophomore class elected the following officers: President, R. E. Dingman, Vice-president, C. H. MacNaughton, Secretary, H. O. Hyman and "Bill" Gilmour, Treasurer.

DON BAILLIE RETURNS TO THE GRIDIRON

Veteran Quarterback Unable to Resist Lure
INSTILLS SPIRIT

Flanagan Also Appears For First Time in Two Weeks

The return of "Don" Baillie to the gridiron yesterday afternoon was greeted with a great deal of enthusiasm by the members of the squad and with "Don" back at his old position calling signals the team showed more pep than they have displayed at any time this season. The veteran quarterback proved that he has lost none of his speed during his long lay-off and tore through the "scrum" line for repeated gains in yesterday's workout at the Stadium.

Baillie, at the close of last year's schedule was chosen by his team-mates to lead the 1922 twelve but had to resign his captaincy when he found it impossible to turn out with the squad and at the same time keep up with his studies. The call of the gridiron, however, proved too strong for "Don" to resist; beating the base drum for the McGill Band afforded him very little satisfaction, with the result that the veteran of three seasons, once again donned the moleskins in an effort to help his Alma Mater finish the season in satisfactory style.

The return of Flanagan also brought smiles to the faces of the handful of railbirds that witnessed yesterday's practice. This is the first time Flin has been out on the gridiron since he incurred an injury to his ankle in the Queen's game over two weeks ago. The injury is not altogether healed and Coach Shaughnessy kept him out of the scrimmage, allowing him only to go through the signal drill, in which he filled in at outside wing, where it is possible he may play for McGill. It is not known yet whether Flanagan will be able to get into the Queen's game in Kingston on Saturday. Shag desiring to take no chances on a further injury. He is anxious to have Flin in good condition for the contest with Syracuse on the 11th.

The rest of the squad turned out in full force and the players are all in the pink of condition. The team is being coached in the rules of the American game in preparation for the Syracuse game which takes place on the latter's grounds a week from next Saturday. Shag has been trying to develop a smooth working interference in the backfield and with Flanagan, Baillie and Little, veterans of last year's McGill-Syracuse game, the outlook is encouraging. The return of Baillie to the squad bolsters the Red and White defence, considerably as "Don" is one of the most deadly tacklers in the game.

"Don" Foss, the big inside wing, is being groomed by Shag for kick-off duty. The husky blonde has been booting the oval off the tee regularly a distance of 60 yards. In yesterday's scrimmage against the second team, Foss's initial kick-off landed 10 yards behind the goal line and bounced 15 more to the deadline for a point, a total distance of 80 yards.

A handful of Juniors were out practicing and the team is reminded that this afternoon's workout is the last prior to the final game with Macdonald College, and it is essential that all members of the team appear.

MEDS. NOSE OUT ARTS BALL TEAM

Score Stands at 20-21 After Extra Innings

The Medicine '27 baseball team won from Arts '24 by the score of 21-20 in an overtime game at the High School gymnasium last night.

Without doubt, last night's game was one of the most keenly contested that has been played this season. The result was in doubt from start to finish, Arts climbing to the long end of the score in one inning, only to lose their advantage in the next. At the close of the final inning the score stood at 17-17, and Medicine came to bat, getting four runs and allowing their opponents only three.

Neither team took any chances on the bases during the opening innings, however Medicine became a little more venturesome as the game progressed, and it was largely due to their snap on the sacks that they won.

The batteries of both teams could be improved, but both teams put up an efficient exhibition in the field.

SYRACUSE IN DRAW WITH PENN. STATE

Military Lions and Orange Battle to Scoreless Tie
AT POLO GROUNDS

Syracusans Throw Up Many Opportunities to Score

Syracuse and Penn State played to a scoreless tie Saturday afternoon at the Polo Grounds, after four periods of the most gruelling sort of football. Each team made a determined bid to score, and it was superlating that each were in turn stopped when a score seemed inevitable.

For Syracuse it was a game of wasted opportunities. The Orange brought the ball down the field six times in good position to score, and either tried field goals which went astray, or lost the ball on fumbles. A bad error in judgment in the final quarter cost Syracuse the game. The Orange players had advanced the ball by steady line plunging to State's 20-yard line, showing an offense which bowled over the Pennsylvanians for consistent gains of four or five yards at a clip.

After working the ball to State's 20-yard line, the defense of the Nittany Lions stiffened, and Syracuse found itself with two yards to go on the fourth down. Here Zimmerman stepped back as if for a drop kick, standing on the 30-yard line, in fine position for a kick. Instead of a kick, however, Frugone elected to try a trick play through center, and failed to make the distance. As the game was fast drawing to a close three points at this time would have been plenty.

At this setback, the Lions again took heart, and the game ended soon after with Penn State carrying the ball near the center of the field.

Zimmerman almost made a field goal in the third quarter from the 35-yard line, the ball missing the cross-bar by a narrow margin, as the crowd of 30,000 people rose as one body and yelled—Syracusians for a goal, Penn Staters against it, and disinterested spectators from general excitement.

State Begins Well.

Penn State began the game with evident confidence, while the Salt City team appeared uncertain of its movements. The Nittany Lions started a march down the field after receiving the kick-off. Wilson and Kratz sifted through the Orange line for good gains, and Chick Meehan's men seemed to be demoralized. The much heralded forward pass, combination of Palm to Wilson worked like a charm, and the Orange players were bewildered. The pass was tossed on a running play to either side, three State men appearing likely to receive, but with the ball always going to Wilson.

In this fashion State took the ball down the field, until a fumble gave them first down on the Syracuse ten-yard line. Here the Orange line stiffened and held for downs. It was State's best bid for a score.

The Lions forced the play during the entire first half, making many long gains through a tendency on part of the Syracuse players to tackle too high. The turning point came just before the end of the half. Palm tossed another pass, which was intercepted by Fivaz, and it was now Meehan's men who began to march. Up to this time they had not made a first down, but now went down the field for sixty yards as the half ended.

The remainder of the game saw the State team on the defensive, with Syracuse making heroic efforts to score. Showing little in the way of variety, the Orange team, nevertheless, broke through the opposing line for short, steady gains, with Zimmerman, Frugone and Kellogg, who had substituted for McBride, doing most of the work.

After an exchange of kicks, Syracuse began a drive which brought the ball to State's fifteen-yard line. Here a fumble was recovered by State. The Orange team was soon hammering for another score, but found itself against a wall on the twenty-five yard line. Then one of Zimmerman's tries for a field goal failed.

Syracuse Near Score
The State line, battered and tired, was being forced toward its own goal, and Syracuse, at this stage, looked like a winner. The beginning of the last quarter saw the drive still on, with Syracuse being held twice when a touchdown seemed imminent.

Both teams were fighting desperately, Syracuse for a score and State to avert a defeat, which would have been the first in twenty-five games. At this stage Captain Bentz went in at left guard for State and materially strengthened the line. The Orange backs were ripping off short stabs through the line and brought the ball to the twenty-five yard line. This was do or die.

Zimmerman, Kellogg and Bowman each tried to break through, but gained only eight yards. Then came the play which ended the hopes of the Orange supporters. As Zimmerman stood back with his toe itching to try a kick Frugone hit the line, and missed a first down by inches. State took

FISTS, FALLS & FOILS

In reviewing the activities of the Merry McGill Mitt Slingers for the past week, it is exhilarating to note the large number of neophytes who attended the boxing practices.

Attempting: left hooks, jabs, upper cuts, ducking and various footwork constituted the major portion of the time at these practices.

How can anybody feel safe in these troublesome times without having a knowledge of the above?

Sharpe, Snow, Sullivan, Woolsey, Brodie, McClung, Marshall, Weiner and Ward are some of the "old-timers" again to be seen on the boxing floor.

Any scrapper who has had the pleasure of mixing things with the above will testify as to their prowess.

Calgary, in the great wild west, has contributed some worthy buddies to the fistic game at McGill this year.

There are half a dozen light-heavyweights out of the West who are not to be sneezed at.

Faculty and Inter-faculty smokers are much enlivened by the addition of a scrap or two.

Executives of these affairs should take advantage of a splendid institution like the B.W. & F.

The large numbers of fistic enthusiasts who turn out for practice is indeed encouraging. There were not enough boxing gloves for the crowd, and the sluggers had to wait their turn to put the mittens on.

A few years ago the B.W. and F. was in its infancy. Today this organization is a strong institution with an active executive.

The B. W. and F. has a host of followers. The growth of this club took place with leaps and bounds. It speaks well for the game!

The ranks of the scrappers were augmented by the arrival of a number of light heavyweights from Calgary.

The addition of these mitt slingers from the Wild West, is a fact not to be sneezed at.

Any boxer who catches a place on the College team this year will be made of the right material. To get to the top this season, boxers will have to show considerable speed and class.

Wrestling is progressing favourably. Coach Armstrong is very much on the job, and hopes to develop as sturdy a crowd of grapplers as ever wore McGill togs.

A former Yale boxer, Eddie Egan, who is in Paris on his way to take up residence at Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship, has challenged Carpenter's victor, Battling Siki. Egan illustrated the instinct of the true college sportsman when he specified in issuing the challenge that he would desire to give his share of the purse to charity. He is an amateur boxer.

Boxing practice at Molson's Hall this afternoon at 5.15.

HE DIED

Yea, there was a college youth, And he always told the truth— But he died.

Flapper fair once to him spoke, Called his last name, but this bloke Said:—"It's my brother that you know!" And so the maiden let him go.

And he died.

Still another of this kind Given "A" by reader kind, Hurried to the prof, said he:—"Errors overlooked by thee Bring my mark down to a 'C'!"

But he died

The only other one alive Passed through Sather while a "drive" Was under way.

Salesman mised him, back he came, Said: "I'm sure you want my name."

He died too.

And that's all—there isn't any more! —Sitting Bull in The Daily Californian

Wilson was the particular star of Bezdek's team, taking the ball on every second offensive play attempted. Palm, at quarterback, showed good headwork and threw passes with uncanny accuracy. He was taken out of the game in favor of Patten after he had been hurt to the point of becoming groggy.

INTERMEDIATES PLAY TONIGHT

Water Polo Game at Y. M. C. A.

The McGill Intermediate Polo team will meet the fast M.S.C. team for the first time this season at the Y.M.C.A. tank at 8.15 o'clock to-night.

The McGill Intermediate team is composed almost wholly of new comers. McKindsey will in all probability hold down the goal position as he has been showing to good advantage there lately. Vickerson will be one of the reliable men on the forward line, these two are the only ones of last years team who will be present to-morrow night. Forsythe injured his ear in a practice on Saturday and is out of the game for a few days. Moore who played such a brilliant game against M.A.A.A. last week will be seen again on the forward line and will endeavour to duplicate last week's game. Jardine and Phipps are two new men who are working hard for defence positions, and are rounding into shape in fine style. Kyle and Murphy are working hard to make the forward line and should give a good account of themselves if called on.

Bethel is another new man and while he is very light, he makes up for his weight in speed and head work, and will make some of the heavier men work to hold their places. Wade who is well known in skiing circles, and also among the harriers may be in the line-up to-night.

While the M.S.C. is a team composed of veterans the Intermediates are prepared to fight for every inch. The team has a hard game ahead and will need all the help that the Rooters can give them.

NAVY TEAM BOWS TO PENN. ELEVEN

Philadelph's Surprise With 13 to 7 Victory

University of Pennsylvania came from behind and triumphed over the Navy, 13 to 7. The sailors had everything their own way in the first half and were leading by a touchdown. Pos Miller, Red and Blue captain, practically wrested victory from defeat singlehanded. He repeatedly ripped up the Navy line and scored two touchdowns.

The first touchdown for Penn was the result of a 24-yard forward pass, McGraw to Miller, who caught the ball over his shoulder. A forward pass just before the end of the third period from Hamer's hands bounced out of a Navy man's arms and into Ertresvaag's arm on the 10-yard line. In one play Miller gained nine yards just as the period ended.

Starting the final period Miller was given the ball and cracked right guard for the necessary yard and touchdown. Navy's touchdown was a steady march in the opening period, McKee finally carrying the ball over. Penn celebrated as it never did before, students pouring down on the field with their famous snake dance for more than a half hour after the battle.

(Continued from page 1.) selves to fill these positions while at college. A doctor must be cultured, must possess wide information and broad sympathies, and should be well fitted to act in the capacity of general advisor.

Dr. Bazin emphasized the fact that "medicine is a hard taskmaster." "And in the senior years he is still a harder taskmaster, but", continued the speaker, "I should advise every student to devise some system for making time for the business end of the profession." "Correspondence, taking of records and book-keeping are three important subjects of which the medical undergraduate should have at least some knowledge." "The student should also learn to use a typewriter so as to present his reports and correspondence in a clear manner and at the same time be able to keep a duplicate copy."

The importance of keeping terse records of patients and the advisability of getting away from the details of the business end of the profession, was pointed out by Dr. Bazin.

The case report brought forth some very interesting discussion from Dawson and Dyer, while Wilkie added some remarks in a very amusing manner. Dr. Bazin reviewed the discussion and completed the speakers on the diagnoses.

Refreshments were served, which concluded the very successful meeting.

CLUBS & SOCIETIES

Notices of meetings of clubs and societies may be dropped into the box placed for that purpose on the door of the Daily office in the basement of the McGill Union. Notices should be in as early as possible.

PRINCETON BEAT CHICAGO 21 TO 18

Tigers Average Last Year's Defeat

The clawing, fighting Tiger from "Old Nassau" upheld the traditions of Eastern football in Chicago on Saturday, defeating Chicago, 21 to 18.

Apparently hopelessly beaten, the Princeton team went into the last quarter with the score 18 to 7 against them. The Tigers, fighting true to their name, then opened up and carried the ball down the field twice for two touchdowns and victory.

W. H. Crum, the husky Tiger back, who scored two touchdowns for the Easterners, earned the right to have his name inscribed high on the last of the Princeton tablet of fame.

John Thomas, last year's hero, was again the Maroon star. By his own efforts he carried the ball across the Orange and Black goal line twice. While thousands of "old grads" begged, pleaded and howled, the Princeton team fought to a standstill the pile-driving Stagg attack and used the forward pass to amass it score.

From the first whistle, the game was a bitter fight. The Tiger was out to avenge the 9 to 0 defeat of last year and turned into a vicious fighting machine the minute the ball was put in play.

In the first quarter, the Chicago attack, with J. Thomas and Pyott tearing great holes through the line, took the ball to Princeton's three-yard line. Pyott went over for a touchdown, Princeton's first chance to score came following a forty-yard pass, Cleaves to Gorman, placing the ball on Chicago's 16-yard line. A series of line plunges brought the ball to the one-yard line and Crum carried it over at the start of the second quarter. Princeton kicked off and John Thomas started his march down the field again. He went over for Chicago's second touchdown.

In the third quarter the driving Maroon attack carried the ball over for a third touchdown. With the score 18 to 7 against them, Princeton came to life. Forward pass after forward pass was shot by Cleaves and Caldwell for short gains. From middle field Cleaves passed for 35 yards to Gray, who carried the ball to the Maroon 15-yard line. Princeton lost it on downs but on the second play Zorn fumbled and Gray, fleet-footed Princeton end, recovered and raced for a touchdown. Cleaves kicked the goal. Again the Tigers started their aerial attack in the final period and a series of successful passes and plunges put the ball over again.

CAUCUS GOSSIP

The Progressive government is strongly organized to assume supreme control in the Parliament of McGill to be opened on the evening of the 9th of November.

Its policy has been fully decided upon and embraces a range of Liberal measures tinged judiciously with Conservatism. It will be announced in definite and enumerated form very shortly. That the citizens must each and every one be looked after, and either provided with work or fed or clothed at the public expense, is a cardinal principle of the Progressive ideal. Departmental expenditure within the government must be curbed. Taxes must be even more equitably distributed. The poor man must be released from suffering. Revolting instruments of wrong and oppression must be eliminated. Careful supervision is to be extended to the universities. The students of Canada not only must not be overworked, but must be maintained in assured comfort and in an environment suited to intellectual endeavour, with adequate provision for recreation at the country's expense. Education must be free and common. The educational provisions of the B.N.A. Act are to be stretched to the limit to enable the government to take care of the student. In him lies Canada's future.

Immigration, the Railways, Labor, Internal Development, Foreign Trade, will all receive prompt, energetic, and a new mode of treatment.

The Governor-General, Sir Arthur Currie, will read the Speech from the Throne outlining the government's policy. The address in reply will be moved by the Hon. Henri Cousens, seconded by Bob Fortune.

The cabinet follows:—

THE CABINET

Prime Minister and President of the Council—Rt. Hon. R. K. Jones.
Minister of Finance—Rt. Hon. E. C. Amaran.
Minister of Justice—Hon. A. O. Lloyd.

THE OPPOSITION

There is considerable discussion about college as to the probable make up of the Opposition benches in the coming Mock Parliament. It is known that many about the Campus are opposed to the policy expected to be advocated by the Government and as a consequence, a strong array of talent against the Prime Minister is predicted by those who are accredited with a knowledge of the situation.

Rumour has it that Law is opposed almost "en masse" to the Progressives policy. With Law as a nucleus little difficulty should be experienced in collecting of a powerful Opposition.

and England in this respect is that France believes in alliances, while England, like the United States, does not cultivate them.

In treating the economic situation of the world, Parker praised Herbert Hoover and called him the "man most trusted in Europe today." Sir Gilbert supported Mr. Hoover's idea that the United States must not forget the world war debts which the other nations owe to her, and declared "England does not want the United States to forego the debts. Hoover says the world must pay its debts. I say so, too. But bankrupt nations cannot pay their debts."

Parker pointed out that Germany cannot pay her debts until her exports exceed her imports and that, further, Germany does not have the immense agrarian and mineral resources of the Saar Basin, Alsace-Lorraine and a part of Poland.

Calls for Economic Conference
In the light of these serious financial conditions Parker urged the calling together of a world economic conference to solve as its problems the settlement of the amount Germany should pay and the amount the allies and the other nations that owe the United States should pay America.

Sir Gilbert further emphasized that the physical salvation of the world is trade. After outlining these conditions Parker asked: "In this crisis of the world's history, what are you going to do? 'The World—Whither Now?'"

In reply Sir Gilbert stood for no cancellation of debts and the idea that every nation of the world should abide by the judgment of such an economic conference as he suggested. Parker expressed the belief that although the United States was slow to move she will come to save the world in this economic crisis as she did during the war, and that she will be ready to bear the burdens with the rest of the world.

Near East Peace Due to France
Turning toward the Near East crisis, Parker laid the responsibility of the situation on the effort to keep the Turks out of Turkey. In doing this, said the speaker, the Turks, the most fanatic men in religion and national spirit in the world, had to be dealt with. "If I had been Mustafa Kemal, I would have done exactly what he did. If Turkey did not get back into Europe there would have been another world war," said Sir Gilbert.

"The present settlement is due to France," continued Parker. "The difference between the policy of France and England in this respect is that France believes in alliances, while England, like the United States, does not cultivate them.

Standford University, for years a member of the Pacific Coast Conference, sent in its resignation as a member. The resignation comes as a direct result of Stanford's action of scheduling a game with the University of Pittsburgh for December 30, to be played in the Stanford stadium, and for which the Conference in a recent meeting reprimanded the Cardinals.

REGISTER OF STUDENTS AT VARSITY LESS

Decrease of 367 Students This Year

INCOMPLETE

Total Registration so Far Amounts to 4,619

The registration so far at the University of Toronto has reached a total of 4,619 students. These figures do not include the students registered in the Royal College of Dental Surgeons and the Ontario Agricultural College. There are some 225 students registered in the School of Graduate Studies, but as they have yet to be passed upon by the committee their number is not included in the total registration for the university.

It is interesting to note that the Freshman Year in the Faculty of Medicine shows the smallest registration of any of the years, while the final year has the greatest number. The drop in the number of students in the first year compares to a similar drop at McGill, where the rule of a maximum class of one hundred has come into effect this year. No doubt, the large influx of students following the war years caused the huge registrations in both universities and the return to normal conditions together with the higher standards required for entrance, has caused the decrease in registration.

The figures so far show that there is a net decrease in attendance at Toronto of 367 students, as the total registration last year was 4,986. The number of students by faculties is given herewith:

M.S.P.E. FRESHETTES ENTERTAIN SENIORS

The First Year of the M.S.P.E. were hostesses recently at a Halloween Masquerade Party held at the M.S.P.E. Hostel in honour of the Senior Year.

Other invited guests included Miss Cartwright, Miss MacCallum, Miss Wain and Miss Smellie.

The rooms were decorated in orange and black and spooks, witches' cauldrons and pumpkin lanterns were very effectively used to create a Halloween atmosphere.

Wild cowboys bewitching old-fashioned maidens, Pierrots, Pierrettes, beautiful Italian girls, sailors, sunbonnet Sues, girls escaped from harems, live pumpkins and ghosts danced around together. Luckily Raggedy-Andy and his sister rag-doll were present much to the delight of sweet little girls who played peacefully with them till naughty little boys upset things as usual.

The evening's programme included "stunts" and dancing. A fitting parody on "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean", setting forth the joys of being a Physical Ed., met with unusual success. Miss K. Gilmour shewed marked ability as director of the one-piece orchestra, at the same time carrying on a very successful flirtation with Mr. Shean. The enthusiastic applause and encore shewed that the audience fully agreed with the final verse:—

But we'd like you all to know
That the best pair in our show

"Are Estelle Lawford, Mr. Gallagher and Flynn Flanagan, Mr. Shean: (at this point loud protests were heard from the Lady at the piano!)

After the refreshments were served dancing was again indulged in till late in the evening, when the rooms resounded with three cheers for Miss E. Clarkson, the president of the Junior Year who worked very hard to make the party a success.

Excited Soph (to stern senior law student): "C'mon, let's haze the freshman, everybody is going to help."

Last night they treated a soph real rough.

Lawyer—(Stroking a misplaced eyebrow): "Really, how humiliating."

E. S.: "We're going after them now, are you coming like?"

Lawyer: "Yes, Yes, but let's go down to Mader's and have a bite to eat first."

might undergo the coagulation process by means of which most of the foreign matter in the water collected together and sunk to the bottom of the settling basin, a process requiring about an hour. The top of the water in the settling basin was then piped off into one of the fifteen filters each of which has a capacity of two million (2,000,000) gallons every 24 hours. The water was run off the filters in order to show how the sand was cleaned of the dirt left on its surface as the water passed through. The sand was broken up by air being pumped through it and was then thoroughly washed by distilled water.

By the time the water had passed through the filter of sand and gravel into the clear well it looked like perfectly good drinking water. However, after being escorted to the laboratory to see the bugs which had been developed from river water, the students were quite relieved to know that the water underwent still further treatment, this time by chlorine-water, which rendered it "100 per cent. pure." As no one was offered a drink, the visitors were obliged to take the word of their escort in this matter.
